Great new product for kids!

Each year I look for products that really help the younger kids in the woods. I learned about a product called the Triclawps. The Triclawps attaches to the top of a tripod and ideally a fluid head with a quick release. Once in your blind, the gun lays down within the device and has two quick releases that clamp down. It makes for a super solid rest that the kids can move easily as the game moves. My six year old, Gage, used it to harvest a beautiful buck and a nice doe. I think the Triclawps will be great for kids in the turkey blind this spring. You can learn more about this product at www.triclawps.com.

Always let us know if you discover new products that are great for kids!
